THE LATE PRESTON KING.

Coroner's Inquest-Testimony in the Case-Adjournment Until Saturday, at Ten o'Clock A. M.

The inquest as to the cause of the death of Preston King, late Collector of the Port of New York, was com-menced yesterday afternoon, at one o'clock, before Coroner Lynch and a jury, at the Coroner's office, new tourt House, Brooklyn. There were few spectators

The testimony was as follows:—
William Monahan, sworn, testified that he resides at
No. 212 East Thirty-second street, New York; is employed at the Astor House as hall porter; have been there thirteen years; was acquainted with Preston King, he boarded at the Astor House and occupied room No. 11, estuated near the private entrance to the hotel on Vesey strated near the private entrance to the hotel on Vesey street; saw him alive on the morning of the 13th of November, 1865; Mr. King left his room at about half-past eight o'clock A. M. on the day mentioned; there was a gentleman who occupied the same room who was taking ears of him; Mr. King had his overcoat on at the time he left the hotel; on his way down stairs he stopped and same back again and then turned again and went down stairs and then went into the street; Mr. King's roommate came out of his apartment and inquired for him; Mr. King idd not take breakfast the morning referred to; did not notice anything peculiar in his manner or appearance; one of the night watchmen told witness that Mr. King had left his room about five o'clock that morning and came back and went to bed again; witness saw the hat that was brought to the hotel after Mr. King disappeared; it looked like the hat Mr. King was in the habit of wearing; there was nothing peculiar about the agreement of it; have not seen the deceased since the morning he left the hotel; was at his office the day before he was reported missing; the gentleman who took care of Mr. King slept in the same room with him; it was witness' business to look after people who go in or out of the house; has charge of the private entrance thereto.

Theedore Parker, sworn—Said he resides at Hoboken, care of Mr. King slept in the same room with him; it was witness' business to look after people who go in or out of the house; has charge of the private entrance thereto.

Theedore Parker, sworn—Said he resides at Hoboken, New York; on Monday morning, about haf-past eight o'dock, sometime in the month of November was in his store taking the books out of his safe, a large man came in the store and asked some questions in regard to the purchase of some shot; thought he was a country merchant; sold him a bag of shot when he (Mr. King) left the store. The next day, while reading the Naw York Harato, saw the description of a man who jumped off one of the Hoboken ferry boats, and from the accuracy of the article thought it was the same man who had been in witness' store the day previous; witness thought the man who was in his store was very large in stature and in weight about two hundred and fifty pounds, and about sixty years of age; he had a smooth face and wore a dark overcont; this man gave witness a five dollar bill to pay for the shot; did not observe anything unusual about his appearance; deceased came back soon after and got something from his (witness') porter; witness' partner went to the Custon House and gave Mr. Odell, the naval officer, the information in regard to the man buying shot; this is all witness knows of the affair; gave the man a one dollar bill and fifty cents in currency as change; cannot recollect where the man took the money from; do not know whether he were spectacles or had a cane or umbrella with him; he appeared perfectly calm and collected; the roop shown witness corresponds with the rope the porter told him he gave the nan who purchased the shot.

Henry Welsh sworn—Resides at 22 Jay street, New York; is a porter for Moreau & Parker, 150 West street; on a Monday morning saw a large man come into the store, and he asked witness if he had any lead; referred him to Mr. Parker, who sold him some shot; the man then turned and weat out, was gone about ten minutes and returned, when he aske he cabin and could not see the large man he had seen one on the boat.

Officer James Kenny sworn—Is a member of the Athalic Dock police; resides in Columbia street; about our o'clock on last Monday morning, when on the South ler, noticed something floating, which looked like a ody; got a boat and secured it by tying a piece of rope around the legs; notified the Sergeant, the notified Captian Thompson; there was a Castom lense watchman with witness at the time; the body as floating outside when witness first saw it; the ideas flowing in; the bedy was in the gap when it was kinred; !! Was about two hundred yards distant when e saw it; there was a strong west wind; think the body man from out in the bay; passed the rope around the oots and they came off from the effects of towing the ody; had to make it fast again; took over an hour to row he body to the pier where it was secured; made a researk that it was Preston King; this was a common sying of late among the police when a man was found rowned.

The inquest was then adjourned until to-morrow sturday) morning, at ten o'clock. The Coroner now

The Saxton Divorce Suit.

ANOTHER SHOT PROM JUDGE BARNARD AT THE ADVERTISING DIFORCE LAWYERS. SUPREME COURT-CHAMBERS.

Before Judge Barnard.

MAY 17.—Anna A. Surion es. Joseph A. Sarém.—This case, the full particulars of which were published in Sunday's Henallo, came up again this morning. It will be remembered that Judge Barnard on Saturday last adjourned over the examination as to the alleged fraudulest procurement of a divorce until to-day.

Mr. Macgregor, who appeared for the lady, stated that he was unable to have the witness in court who testified before the referse as to the adultery of defendant. He had in his possession the affidavite of other parties proving the adultery, but he did not think it necessary to read them at that time. From the publicity given to the case and the importance of it he (Mr. Macgregor) was willing that the other side should have an opportunity of Sing an answer and allow the matter to go before a jury, or be tried by his Honor. It would be necessary for the plaintiff to amend her complaint, and he would sak that Mr. Saxion be compelled to give security for alknown and costs of the suit.

Judge Barnard remarked that in his mind there was little doubt but that this man had abandoned his wife, but he meant to ascertain whether the lady had procured a divorce from her husband without giving him proper notification.

Mr. T. W. Adams, for defendant, said that he had wit-a divorce from her husband without giving him proper motification.

Mr. T. W. Adams, for defendant, said that he had witnesses in court to prove the alibi of Mr. Saxton at the date it was alleged he had committed adultery.

Judge Barnard said he would grant the motion of defendant, and directed that the whole matter be heard before him with three days' notice. In making the order as to references some few days since, he did not mean to references some few days since, he did not mean to references once few days since, he did not mean to reference some few days since, he did not mean to reference some few days since, he did not mean to be officers of the court, in league with them, thereby referring upon the court and its dignity. J. D. Macgregor for plaintiff; E. J. Vanderpoel and T. W. Adams for decembant.

Conflict of Authority Between Judges
McCunn and Jones.

4: KI. T. STEWART AGAINST ONE OF HIS TENANTS. SUPERIOR COURT-PART II.

Before Judge McCunn.

A. T. Street at William C. Barker.—This was an ordinary action for ejectment for the alleged violation of evenants in a lease. The plaintiff is the owner in fee of Nos. 48 and 50 Duane street, which are occupied by the defendant under a lease from the former owners of she premises. Among the stipulations in the indenture of these is one not to emblet, and another not to carry on therein any business of an extra hazardous character. In violation of these agreements the plaintiff contends if at the defendant has sub-let to various parties, and has permitted business of an extra hazardous character to be carried on in a portion of the premises. Wherefore he asks that the defendant be ejected, that the lease be legally declared at an end, and that he peal $2.500 for the damages he has sustained by reason of the defendant's tortions acts. The case has been frequently juponed, it appears, and yesterday when it came on it ritial Mr. Crosby, one of the coursed for defendant, asked for another postponement, on the ground lind has a sociate, Yr. Lockwood, was absent in Connecticut.

Judge Hilton, counsel for Mr. Stewart, opposed the motion, and Judge McCunn decided that he card in the proposed of the sub-section of the sub-plaintiff. Immediately after this decision Mr. Crosby applied to Judge Jones at the Special Term of the Superior Court for an order staying proceedings. This order was granted and Mr. Crosby returned to Part II, fourtehing the document. Judge McCunn took the criter, and after reading it took his pen and wrote on its face the words. "Order vacated. John H. McCunn"—at the same time directing Mr. Haviland, Clerk of the Court, to see Judge Jones, explain the circumstance of the case, and applegies of necessary for his Judge McCunn's action.

For the matter stands at present—two judges of the game court action in direct conflict with each other.

TWO HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Bi-Centennial Anniversary of the Settle-Military and Firemen's Parade, &c.
For the last few days the citizens of Newark, N. J., have been making extensive proparations to celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of the settlement of their city. The celebration took place yesterday with considerable celat. Business was generally suspended, and the occasion pretty generally observed as a holiday by An ode, written for the occasion by A. Coles, M. D., was then sung by the choir.

THE RISTORICAL MEMOIR.

Mr. WILLIAM A. WHITHIRAD, Corresponding Secretary of the sity of Newark. Two hundred years! The words were uttered with so little effort that the mind failed to realize at once their full significance. Such an occasion as the present was therefore fraught with unusual interest, commemorating us it did an event which occurred so long ago. It was in the spring of 1666 that two or more diminutive vessels, after carefully passing from the harbor of New York through the Kill Yon Kull, entered what is now known as Newark Bay. Their names had not been preserved, and attendant circumstances indicated that they arrived there in the beginning of May, old style. These vessels brought to New Jorsey a small company of adventurous and God-fearing men—women, too, were there loving and simple. Previous to this time the settlements had been confined to the peninsula, lying between the Hudson and the Hadcensack.

Mr. WHITERIAD gave a minute account of the customs of the men of those days when desirous of establishing new settlements, and also of the dissensions between the colonies of New Haven and Connecticut, which were smally healed by the union of the two, and the settlers of Newark were smoug the small mino ity who refused to give in their adhesion to that union. Early in the apring of 1666 about thirty persons arrived in the Pasaic from the Indians, but Robert Treat and other leaders held a conference with the Indians, and arrangements for effecting the sale of lands were perfected. Overtures were shortly afterwards received from a number of citizens of Branford that the two bodies should form but one, to work together for the advancement of the ends they had in view.

The The Maation.

Hon. William B. Kenney, of Newark, was then intro-

Dr. Thomas Wains, M. D., then recited, with much spirit, a poem appropriate to the occasion.

Hon. William B. Kinney, of Newark, was then introduced, and proceeded to deliver the oration. On rising he was greeted with loud applause, and said:—Nearly four centuries ago it was announced that Columbus had given a new world to Ferdinand and Isabella of Castle. Where are now those mighty possessions and into whose hands have they fallen? They are now in the possession of the descendants of a little band of hardy settlers, and it was to commemorate the memory of one of the most noted of these early settlers that they were assembled. In the luxuriance of youth and vigor of manhood it was sometimes wise for us thus to pause and celebrate our anniversaries, and cherish the memories of our forefathers. Those in whose honor they were assembled were eminently worthy of such posthumous honors. They were noble sires, men of peace, and men of God. They did not come to New Jersey expecting to pass the residue of their lives in one long day of ease or in the pursuit of wealth, but they came to found a new country in the fear of God, and their exalted purposes ennobled all they did, and their labors would be honored to the end of time. (Applause.) He then spoke of the many efforts made by queen Elizabeth to found colonies on this continent, and contrasted their signal failure with the great success which had crowned

THE PROCESSION.

The civic and military authorities had made preparations for a parade which was to have surpassed anything of the kind which had ever taken place in Newark. The rain came, however, and disarranged the whole programme. About noon there seemed some prospect of fair weather, and the citizens determined not to be deprived of that very essential feature of the day's celebration. Plags were hoisted, windows thrown up and heads thrust out. Everything began to assume a gay and festive appearance except the weather, which was a festive appearance except the weather, which was constant of the late James McIntosh, flag officer, United States Navy.

RVENING IECEPTION.

In the evening a reception was held at the rooms of the Historical Society. All the beauty and fashion together with the learning and wealth of Newark were present. Rualling silk and gleaming satin, snowy laces and sober broadcloth, formed component partie of the scene. Wit and music, talks of the past and present and kindly greetings between old friends helped to pass the time away, and thus ended a great day for Newark—the two hundredth auniversary of the aettlement of "Our Towne on Pasayak river."

Allegrid Grand Largenies.

Alice Keegan and Bridget Wilson, who were charged by John Nevin with stealing sixteen hundred dollars in money, at a house of prostitution in Cherry sirest, on the 1st inst, were treed and acquited. One of the women gave him eleven hundred dollars, stating that she had it for asfe keeping, and as the complainant was so intoxicated it did not appear clear that he had the amount of money which he claimed to have had.

Louis Seibring was charged with stealing seventy dollars from Charles A. Villenin, 133 Twenty-ninth street, on the 20th of April. It appeared on the trial that the complaining witnesses were the mother and stepfather of the prisoner, whereupon Assistant District Attorney Bedford abandoned the prosecution and the jury acquitted the accused.

John Duffy, who was indicted for stealing a horse and saddie, worth four hundred and ten dollars, owned by Nathan J. Bale, was acquitted of the charge, the circumstances showing that he had no felonious intent in taking the property.

John Drift, who was indicted for stealing a borse and saddile, worth four hundred and ten dollars, owned by Nathan J. Bale, was acquitted of the charge, the circumstances showing that he had no felonious intens in taking the property.

THE CONCLAVE.

Strict orders were given to exclude all who were not officials from the council, which commenced at eleven o'clock A. M. and did not close till six o'clock P. M. No vinitors were admitted for an hour afterwards. To execute these beheets Mr. O'plen, a distinguished member of the I. R. B., was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

THE MOFFATT MANSION.

Like the masters who ruled supreme within its walls, this editice stands condemned. It will not be necessary to bring it under the auctioneer's hammer, as several applications for its possession are in the hands of the committee. It will prove a profitable speculation to replenish the depleted funds of the Fenian exchequer. Standing in bold contrast with the life and gayety around, its closed windows and silent halls conjure up a gloom in the soul of the late O'Mahonyite, who now looks upon it as a mausoleum of the defunct Irish republic, but breathes withal a faint hope in its ultimate resurrection.
